

Trainee talks – IN PERSON

Farm Animal Respiratory Pathology

BSVP Summer Conference on Friday 10th June at Moredun Institute, Edinburgh

The BSVP is pleased to showcase two trainees at our conference on Friday 10th June. Trainees can present an interesting case, or research project during the 10 minute in-person presentation, followed by live Q&A.

Successful applicants will also receive free registration to the meeting, £300 towards travel and accommodation costs, and free BSVP membership for the 2023 year.

To apply, applicants should submit a written abstract (max 800 words). Research or cases from all species and aetiologies are welcome. Those focused on the meeting's theme, farm animals and/or respiratory pathology, are particularly encouraged.

The requirements for the trainee presentations are as follows:

1. The candidates can be of any nationality and work in any country
2. The candidates should be preparing for a pathology board examination (confirmed by supporting letter/email signed by their sponsor)
3. Successful candidates are expected to present in person in Edinburgh
5. The case presentation must be ethically acceptable
6. Previous BSVP award winners from the last 2 years can apply, however applications from non-previous winners will take precedence in the judging
7. Candidates do not need to be current BSVP members
8. Successful applicants will write a conference review for publication on the BSVP website

We are happy to discuss any questions prior to submission. Please contact the BSVP Secretariat (bsvpsecretariat@gmail.com).

Please submit your abstract and sponsor supporting letter confirming that you are in-training for a pathology board examination by email to BSVP Secretariat (bsvpsecretariat@gmail.com). All abstracts and sponsor supporting letters must be received by email by 4pm BST Thursday 28th April 2022. Successful applicants will be notified by 13th May 2021.

Regards,
BSVP Council
